Gold open access journals
RightsLink Author Payment Portal
SAGE has partnered with Copyright Clearance Center (CCC) who provide us with RightsLink Author, an article processing charge (APC) collection platform for our gold open access journals.

If an author’s article is accepted after peer review, it moves from SAGE’s peer review system to its production system. At this point, the corresponding author will be sent a payment email containing a link to the RightsLink Author Payment Portal. The link leads the author to their author charges estimate page – like this one:

Below this, the article processing charge amount is displayed, and authors can apply discount codes and process payments.

FCT affiliated corresponding authors should contact their library to request the FCT discount code. The corresponding author can also email apcqueries@sagepub.co.uk to request the code.

Once they have the code (FCCN OA GOLD), the author should follow the below instructions:
1. Click ‘Apply Discounts’.

2. An ‘Apply Discounts’ window will open. In the ‘Promo code’ box, enter the FCCN discount code (FCCN OA GOLD). Next, click ‘Apply Discounts’, then close the Apply Discounts window.

3. The author will see that the article processing charge (APC) rate has been discounted by 20%. The author can now proceed by clicking “Payment Options”
4. The author will now be prompted to log-in or register an account with Copyright Clearance Center (CCC).
5. Once the author has logged in or registered, they will be able to choose to pay via credit card or invoice.

Exceptions
Some of SAGE’s journals do not use the RightsLink Author portal to collect article processing charges (APCs). For journals that use PayPal or invoicing, authors should email the journal’s editorial office quoting the FCCN code when payment is requested. SAGE will then apply the 20% discount to the APC.
SAGE Choice (Hybrid Open Access)

1. The author or institution should email openaccess@sagepub.com to request SAGE Choice after their article has been accepted for publication. The email should include the article title, journal name, manuscript id and the corresponding author’s institutional affiliation.

2. The corresponding author will then be sent the open access contributor form. (An example of the form can be found below. Note that some journals have their own contributor forms so these may differ slightly from the below example)

3. The author must complete the form using Adobe Reader or Adobe Acrobat.

4. The code FCCN 2019 should be entered into the relevant section of the form. (see below)

5. The author should then select the licence required. Most journals offer CC BY-NC as default, with CC BY when required by the funding institution only.

6. The author must sign the form and return by reply. The author will also need to provide invoice information.

7. The corresponding author and article will be checked for eligibility by SAGE.
   a. The corresponding author must be affiliated with a FCT member institution. SAGE will check the author’s affiliation as declared on submission and email domain to check for an affiliation.
   b. The article must be accepted for publication in a journal which is part of the subscription package held by the corresponding author’s affiliated FCT institution.
   c. The article must have entered SAGE’s production system (SMART) on or after 1st January 2019 and on or before 31st December 2021.

8. If the above criteria are met, then corresponding author will then be sent an invoice for the article processing charge (APC) using the details provided previously. The invoice will be for 200 GBP with the FCCN discount applied.

Authors can contact openaccess@sagepub.com if they have any questions about the above process.
